

Based in Luxembourg, the CVCE is an interdisciplinary research centre specialising in the European integration process. Its mission is to create, share and valorise knowledge in an innovative digital environment. The Centre develops and publishes digital research corpora and subject files for the scientific and academic communities based on research projects in European integration studies (EIS). Knowledge is created and disseminated by means of the Centre's specialised, Web-based digital infrastructure.

The CVCE has a vacancy for a:

Digital Humanities Researcher (M/F)

Employee status: six-months fixed-term contract (CDD) on a full-time basis in connection with the CVCE's Digital Humanities Lab Text Editing Project

Your role

As a member of the Digital Humanities Lab, your main task will be to assist the Lab team in its project to design ways to edit the numerous texts that are published online by the CVCE at cvce.eu in the more general framework of the CVCE's Digital Infrastructure Roadmap. This work will be used by the Lab to test options for the development of cvce.eu. More specifically, your tasks will include:

- Designing a new model for text editing;
- Documenting this model;
- Participating in digital humanities research and monitoring trends and developments in the field;
- Publishing academic article(s), whether in print or digital format, on digital text editing;
- Helping develop European proposals.

Your skills and education

- PhD in humanities or social sciences with an experience in digital humanities.
- Experience with the TEI encoding guidelines.
- Fluent English and a good command of French. Knowledge of other languages would be an advantage.

Your professional and personal qualities

- You have a strong sense of team spirit, excellent organisational skills and a proactive approach.
- You have good communication skills and a positive and constructive professional attitude.
- You value quality and have an eye for detail and good analytical and reasoning skills.
- You are able to keep deadlines and you demonstrate a methodical, thorough, pragmatic and efficient approach.

Start date: as soon as possible.
