National campaign in support of the euro (Germany)

But there's something missing.

There's something missing here that we could use so that we may finally make direct price comparisons in Europe. What will make this possible in the future? The euro. It will give us an accurate overview of price advantages. The euro is a stable currency and is good for consumers. With the euro, you will be able to take advantage of better offers in neighbouring countries, too. Europe is the future. The euro is coming.
