You can now create your own collections of documents on this site with the 'My albums' feature. Simply open your user account to access a personal space where you can create, save, annotate and structure your collections of digital objects.

It will also soon be possible to share an album with all other users by choosing to display it in the list of public albums, or alternatively to restrict the publication to a few selected users.

As for the personal albums previously created on the European NAVigator site, these have not been lost — you will shortly be able to reimport them.
